Oneness

*Either oneness is or it isn't;
There is no in between.
Imagine that it is.
What would that mean?*

15 March 2014

Joe,

We develop and manage long-term value-creating business relationships (alliances & partnerships). We:

Do the impossible with nothing in the eye of a hurricane.

I continue to listen - to you.

Since mid-January I have been deeply listening to the voice-of-the-collective, to hear of the greatest challenges we all face. So far I have heard from over 40 strategic alliance/partner manager from around the world. More than ever I am convinced that practical spirituality is a strategic imperative.

The world needs you!

Oneness in Alliances & Partnerships

Oneness is a simple idea. I consider it to be one of five simple truths or practical spiritual principles.

I am not interested in trying to convince you or to prove to you that this idea is true. I am merely suggesting that you consider the idea and try it out. (See spiritual disclaimer.)

Imagine what your job would be like if oneness is true, here and now. What are the implications?

Is oneness helpful?

It has been my experience that as I embody (think about) oneness:

- trust, honesty and integrity improve
- we create a more open and collaborative climate
- giving and receiving, being of service to each other, naturally increases
- our alliance becomes more attractive - others want to join in.
- our alliance grows to have a sense of home

Transformation via Simple Listening

Strategic alliances are fundamentally transformed as we:

- deeply listen to the voice-of-the-collective
- bring greater clarity and focus into our work
- traverse from complexity into simplicity
- focus our team on overcoming value-impediments so we can uncover and create greater value

Why is this transformational? Because of:

- deep listening and reflection
- spirit lives in the midst
- transcendental power of shared light
- transformational power of shared light
- simplicity
- clarity
- empowerment
- disruption
- focus
- forgiveness

Read more about the transformational power of radical simplicity - it is in the process and the content - both.

I guarantee transformation of your most challenging and troublesome business relationships.
