Relationship
Fundamentally important

A third something

- Between: people and organizations.
- Each side sees the relationship differently.

That is alive

- The nature of the relationship changes over time.
- It changes as we nurture it; as we love it.

And, it is neglected; it is unseen and under-appreciated

- There is a serious lack of meaningful relationships in our world today.
- This lack threatens our spiritual, emotional, mental and even our physical health.
- The health effects of isolation is equivalent to smoking 15 cigarettes a day!
- Ref: Our Epidemic of Loneliness and Isolation: U.S. Surgeon General's Advisory.

The Power-of-Creation
Lives within relationship itself – most clearly seen in a web-of-relationship

Amazingly Powerful

- We posses amazingly creative powers; consider: the internet, mRNA, toasters.
- We accomplish the impossible; consider: space travel, AA and NA.
- Deep, authentic relationships are transformative; they change us.

Everywhere Present

- We are always in relationship.
- All value-creation and all value-exchange requires relationship.
- We are bridge builders and we are bridges; we are nodes in the quantum field of entanglement.

Ultimately Good

- Relationship itself is on our side.
- As we listen to relationship, it will reciprocate and gently guide us; because listening is an act of love.
- More than any 'other', we can trust relationship itself – what lives in-the-between.

Intelligent Knowing

- A web-of-relationship (e.g., an alliance) knows its own problems, solutions, opportunities, and a long-term value-creating vision.
- The web can be self-directed; defining its own structure, processes, metrics, ...

Omnipotent (power)

Omnipresent (presence)

Omnibenevolent (goodness)

Omniscient (knowledge)

Trust and Love

Joe Kittel
Relationship Engineer

- Grounded in electrical engineering (magna cum laude), I focus on the use of fundamental principles in order to create value and accomplish the impossible. This I have done in corporate level engineer-driven strategic alliances (e.g., amongst HP, IBM, Intel, Microsoft, SAP and others), measured in $Bs.

- I am focused on creating value, in and between organizations, by leveraging off of the lessons learned in life and in my strategic alliancing work.

- I empower others to accomplish the impossible and change the world.
